

Blog-a-thon Day 27

PheW! It's Friday. What a day, what a week!

It was invigorating to be on the road just past 6 AM this morning headed to Prescott, Arizona to be interviewed on AZ TV's "The Morning Scramble". I had hoped to be able to post it to the blog tonight, but can't seem to find it on their site. Thinking it takes awhile for them to have it up.

The interview went well. I felt relaxed. The questions they had requested ahead of time were barely used but I enjoyed the interview and felt good about being able to answer the questions they DID ask in a fairly articulate manner. They did a nice job of displaying the book covers on the screen, as well as my website. I have decided I like doing TV interviews even more than planned and prepared speaking engagements.

On another note, I'm very excited to announce that "Breathe" is now available for Kindle. The online edition is as lovely as it can be without being a print book. Getting your hands on "Breathe" is only one click away. Wow! For a few months it will only be available for Kindle, but after that you will be able to get it for Nook and other devices as well. Just recently, I found out you can get a free Kindle App for your iPad too. This means "Breathe" is also iPad friendly. Here's the link: "Breathe" Kindle Edition .

And finally, I just had some upgrades done to the blog area and you can now share and Like on Facebook and Tweet on Twitter. You have to click on the comments tab to get there. And, hooray, the comments feature is working again (and simpler this time). Please SHARE the inspiration on social media.

I've run out of gas for the day. :-)

Enjoy the weekend. I love hearing from readers so send me your comments.
